TOM and PETE — HI HOME TOWNERS — EVEN LIGHTS ARE ON ... IN McKINNEY AND COLLIN COUNTY

THE FOLLOWING has happened many times in Collin County but one section of the story we can't understand. J. B. Hodge who delivers gas—may we say Butane gas for Hon. Edwin Chief Skidmore of the Allen Butane Company in Big Mck., recently found a weather balloon near Celina. Of course Gas Hodge thought, well, Brother, this might be old Sputnik. And when the story was told there was a box of dog food beside the "balloon." Now whether Hodge was full of gas when he told the story we don't know but one thing sure, "anything can happen with a gas man."

The case began Monday, with selection of the jury, from a special venire of 64 persons who were examined.

Senate Passes Collin Water District Bill

A bill setting up a county-wide water conservation district for Collin county, has passed the Senate, to reports from Austin. The bill was introduced by Senator Ray Roberts of McKinney.

The bill is designed to allow Collin county to cooperate with the U.S. Soil Conservation service in a program of upstream flood control under Public Law 566.

But where most such districts are set up to contain only the watershed of a particular stream, this bill places all of Collin County in the new Collin County Water Control & Improvement District No. 2.

The county judge and commissioners are made the temporary and original directors of the district. Elections would be held later to name regular directors. The district is given broad powers to carry out flood control and prevention work in cooperation with other agencies. The bill now goes to the house of representatives, where Rep. W. T. Dungan of McKinney will take over its sponsorship.

Clothing Closet Appeals For More Garments

Mrs. Moselle Allen, chairman of the McKinney Clothing Closet for underprivileged school children, stresses the need for more clothes at this time. Girls dresses, size 6 and 8, are especially needed as well as boys' blue jeans. The drive for clothing has not been sufficient this year to care for the needs of school children, and Mrs. Allen asks parents to check for the local children.

Last year 92 children were kept clothed, and in school, through this community clothing project. At the present time there are enough clothes on hand to care for the immediate needs of boys and girls in there higher grades, but there is practically nothing for the children in the first and second grades.

Headquarters for the Clothing Closet is the Central Ward school where garments may be taken. Officers of the project ask that the garments be in good repair and clean, ready to be worn when passed out to the child.

Money donated is used to buy socks, underwear, shoes and other needed articles, which have not been donated. The cash donations may be made to Mrs. O. L. Barker, treasurer for the organization.

Last year the project was a big success being heartily carried on by local church groups and P-TA's as well as many individuals. This year's drive has been lagging, especially in apparel for smaller children. With winter weather approaching, many children will have to remain out of school unless they have warm, comfortable clothing, and it is urged that all who have any kind of garments, suitable for these needs, will answer this call immediately and bring them to the Clothing Closet headquarters.

KEEPING NYLON WHITE . . .

Proper care can keep white nylons looking bright throughout their lifetime. Extension clothing specialists offer these suggestions for care.

Wash white nylons separately. Colored articles included with white garments are likely to fade and discolor the white.

Wash nylon garments thoroughly after each wearing. Home furnishings articles, too, should be laundered as often as necessary to maintain a pleasing appearance.

Pretreat heavily soiled areas with a paste of water and heavyduty detergent before placing in the machine or hand-washing.

Machine washing, whenever possible, is the most effective way to launder white nylon. After pretreatment, wash in warm water, using a heavy-duty detergent, a non-precipitating type water softener, and a liquid sodium hypochlorite bleach.

Nylon brighteners such as "Pro-Nyl" or "Nylonu," available for consumer use, will help maintain the whiteness level of nylon garments when used repeatedly.

COTTON PRODUCERS ADVISED TO SAVE GOOD PLANTING SEED.

Good cotton planting seed with high germination may be scarce next spring. Fred C. Elliott, extension cotton specialist, said the situation which has developed is due to late plantings last spring and the wet weather which has hit all sections of the cotton belt during the harvest season. The situation, he added, is even worse in the eastern part of the cotton belt and seed of certain varieties are almost certain to be in short supply.

Elliott advised cotton growers to save and carefully store any good quality seed of known varieties. This, he said, is one of those seasons when planting seed even with a low moisture content can't be placed in storage and forgotten about until next spring. A continuous check on stored seed is suggested.

Here are Elliott's suggestions for handling seed. Check seed closely for damage before storing and store those with high germination (80 percent is very good) and low free fatty acid content. Seed saved for bulk storage, he said, should contain less than 12 percent moisture unless good drying and cooling facilities are available. Small quantities of seed should be turned and sacked.

Large quantities of bulk seed, he said, should be cured by aeration to maintain quality. A portable fan and duct system can be used to draw air through the seed. He warned that a moisture content of 13.6 percent is the critical point beyond which storage may quickly become disastrous. Every effort, he said, should be made to bring the moisture content down to 10 or 11 percent on seed storage. Drawing air through the seed must be done during daylight hours and only in fair weather and preferably between 10 a.m. and 4 p.m., he said.

A germination test should be run on the seed before planting as an aid in determining how much seed to plant, he said. No germination test should be made until the seed have been in storage for at least 30 days which is the normal rest period of freshly ginned seed.

PRICE OUTLOOK FOR HOGS IN THE FALL OF 1958. WATCH IT!

An increase in 1958 hog production is in sight because the 1958 spring pig crop will be much larger than the 1957 spring crop, and it now appears that the 1958 fall pig crop will also likely increase.

Market analysts warn that more than a moderate increase in the 1958 spring pig crop could lead to an unfavorable price situation in the fall of 1958.

REASONS FOR THE EXPECTED LARGE PIG CROPS IN 1958

1. Bumper harvests of feed crops this year make more spring farrowings in 1958 highly probable. Total feed grain production is above last year and is about up to the giant crop of 1948. Feed crops of this size and lower feed costs will stimulate expansion in all livestock.

2. Hog prices in 1957 have been good, and this may encourage more production. Just because hog prices are good one year is not sign that prices will be good the next year.

3. The number of bushels of corn that could be bought with the price of a hundred pounds of hogs has averaged above 12 for many years. This September, 1957, it ran to a high of 16.6 bushels, and is expected to run between 14 and 15 during the present breeding season. Such a situation almost invariably leads to increased farrowings.

NEWS FROM THE BOARD OF SUPERVISORS —of— THE COLLIN CO. SOIL CONSERVATION DIST.

"Time for seedbed preparation of waterways is here!" said Ray McLaughlin, Work Unit Conservationist, Soil Conservation Service of Farmersville.

"Our office assists portions of the Collin Soil Conservation District," Fannin Soil Conservation District and Upper Sabine Soil Conservation District," McLaughlin continued," and have only some eight or ten seedbeds prepared for waterways. Early seedbed preparation is a "must" as a general rule, although sometimes waterways are established on late prepared seedbeds. Generally, late seedbed preparation causes such a moisture loss that grass roots must have a rain immediately after sodding, or the grass will be lost."

Raymond McBay, SCS technician at McKinney, assisting the Collin SCD, stated, "You want the kind of seedbed for grass that you would want for cotton. Since the best time to sod is in February and early March, the seedbed should be prepared now so that it will be in good condition by sodding time."

Paul Hart, Collin Soil Conservation District cooperator in the Plano area said on a television appearance that his experience showed a good seedbed is the difference between success and failure in establishing waterways.

Ike McKinney, Soil Conservation Service technician at Plano, stated "Waterway seedbed preparation time is on us, and many farmers do not have their waterways located and staked. They should see their local technician as soon as possible so that waterways can be staked in time for proper seedbed preparation."

George A. Wood, Area Conservationist, SCS, Denton, said "Our people in this area which includes nine work units assisting seven Soil Conservation Districts, have a combined total in excess of 200 man years experience in working with waterways, and various grasses. I have noticed that where their recommendations have been followed, the establishing of waterways has been very successful. If farmers would follow their suggestions as to time and methods of establishing waterways, the percentage of success would be much higher."

Morrison Liston, work Unit Conservationist at McKinney, summed it up this way, "In controlling erosion, waterways are the foundation of the whole conservation plan in most cases. Therefore, establishing waterways is the first step in controlling erosion, and the longer waterways are delayed, the greater the loss of soil. Consequently, it is evry important to get the waterways established as soon as possible. To miss the coming sodding season will mean a year's delay and seedbeds must be prepared now if sodding to to be done next February."

"I would advise any one to see their local Soil Conservation Service technician, get those waterways located, and get those seedbeds prepared at the earliest possible moment."

Open House Honors Mayor And Mrs. Bray

Open house at the home of Mayor and Mrs. Garvin Bray, of Celina, honored the couple Sunday the occasion being their golden wedding. Their children were hosts for the affair held from 2 to 5 o'clock and which was largely attended.

Mr. and Mrs. Bray were married in Van Alstyne, November 14, 1907, in a ceremony at the First Baptist Church there, the Rev. J. H. Compton officiating.

Mrs. Bray the former Miss Annie Blassingame, is a native of South Carolina, coming with her parents to Van Alstyne when she was a girl of 12. She taught school at Anna and Van Alstyne before her marriage. Mr. Bray also moved with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. M. P. Bray, to Van Alstyne when he was 12 years old. He is a native of Mississippi.

Mr. Bray went into the dry goods business in Van Alstyne while he was a young man, working for Walter Barron, and later becoming a member of the firm of Martin-Keefe-Bray & Company. He and his family moved in 1932 to Celina where he managed the Martin-Keefe-Bray store and later, when the firm was dissolved, went into the dry goods business alone. He was in the dry goods business here and in Van Alstyne a total of 47 years. A few years ago he sold his dry goods business and has since been a furniture and appliance dealer. He stays busy at his store on the north side of the square in Celina, and adds to his duties by serving as Celina's mayor, which post he has held about ten years. He has been teaching an adult Bible class in the Sunday school at the First Baptist Church for about 15 years, has served as Sunday school superintendent and is a deacon of the church.

Mr. and Mrs. Bray have five children. They are Jim Bray, Dallas; Mrs. Sam Jennings, Denison; Mrs. Carl Broyles, Dallas; Mrs. Paul O'Brien, Celina, and Mrs. J. W. Sprinkle, Cleburne. They have six grandchildren.

Parade To Open Chest Drive At Van Alstyne

A parade headed by the Perrin Air Force Band will officially open the Van Alstyne Community Chest Drive at 2:00 p. m. Thursday, Nov. 14, with $2,500 being the goal, announces Reverend Paul Woodard, Chariman.

The colorful Air Force Band will be ably supported in the parade through downtown Van Alssyne by groups portraying the different organizations to which Community Chest Funds are distributed—J. E. Poindexter, A. V. Whitehead, and Charles Winifield in charge.

Boy Scouts, Red Cross, Camp Fire Girls, Empty Stocking, Area Youth Program, and USO will be represented in the parade by local school children and out of town talent, with W. A. Denton as director.

Mrs. Ken Carney and Mrs. Eugene Ross are in charge of posters to be displayed in all business firms within the city.

Robert Fielder who is in charge of bill board displays will place a 4 ft. thermometer across from the First National Bank and the marker will show the progress of the campaign, every hour. This thermometer was made by Floyd Carter.

The Community Chest has been adopted by nearly every town and city as being the better way to raise the necesary funds for different organizations at one time. Prior to initiating "let one drive do it all" a seperate campaign was made for each organibation every year. In the opinion of many, this method was time consuming, costly, and generally, unsatisfactory.

As further preparation to the door-to-door campaign, a meeting is scheduled at the Grayson-Collin Electric Coop Reception Room Thursday evening, 7:30 p. m., No. 14—Mrs. Floyd Carter in charge of arrangements. Notices will be mailed to 80 prospective workers.

Items for discussion during the meeting include: Division of area for workers to cover by Rev. Walter Sullens and Rev. Jimmy Duckworth; designation of workers by Robert Hynds and John Douglas; and a film on how to conduct a campaign to be shown and narrated by Coach Roy Jackson.

Lette.s are to be mailed to all Van Alstyne residents by George Davis preceding individual contacts by workers which will be made Saturday and Sunday afternoon, 16 and 17.

All contributions for the Community Chest should be turned in or mailed to Mrs. Claude A. McKinney, secretary and treasurer, at the Vantex Service Station.

Your prompt response in helping with your share of this worthy cause will be greatly appreciated.

McKINNEY HIGH LIONS WIN OVER GREENVILLE LIONS 20-13

By NORMAN SCOTT

The powerful McKinney High Lions used a bruising ground game for a 20-13 victory over the Greenville High Lions Friday night in a District 6-AAA tilt on muddy Phillips Field before 4,500 spectators.

Halfbacks Charlie McEntire and C. W. Williams and reserve fullback Tommy Joe Crutcher paced the vicious attack by grinding out big chunks of yardage behind a crisp blocking McKinney forwall wall that had the Hunt County Lions reeling most of the night.

BYRD SCORES.

After a scoreless first quarter, McKinney took command of the affair about midway of the second period when linebacker Jerry Shaw pounced on a Greenville fumble on the Greenville 26. From the 26, the Lions used only four plays to score the game's opening TD. After fullback Bob Byrd picked up 1 to the 25, quarterback Robert Joplin pitched back to McEntire and the Lion Tri-Captain rifled a pass to his running mate, Williams, who gathered in the pigskin around the 15 and carried for an additional 10 to the 5 on a perfectly executed play. Byrd cracked center for 4 to the 1 and then crashed through the same spot for the score with 5:50 remaining in the second stanza. McEntire's placement kick was perfect and the McKinney eleven led, 7-0.

M'ENTIRE GETS LOOSE.

McEntire set up the next McKinney TD with a 48-yard dash to the Greenville 17 early in the third. McKinney had stopped a Greenville bid on the McKinney 30 in the opening minutes of the second half to set the stage for the hair-raising jaunt by McEntire. Crutcher moved the pikskin out to the 35 on the first play from the 30, and Joplin called on McEntire who found a slight opening at his own right tackle, slipped out of the grasp of a linebacker and was away before two Greenville defenders knocked him out of bounds at the 17. From the 17, McEntire lost 2 around the left side before Williams bombarded for 6 up the middle. McEntire then found running room inside left end to the 6 and at this point Greenville received a 5-yard delay of game pentalty to the 1. Crutcher blasted left tackle for the second Lion six-pointer, and McEntire sent another perfect placement through the uprights for a 14-0 lead with 7:10 left in the third.

HOOTEN TO TREADWAY.

Ken Burch returned the ensuing kickoff to the Greenville 32 and they moved 68 yards in 11 plays for their first TD. The drive was featured by a 37-yard pass completion from quarterback Billy Hooten to end Ed Treadway. Treadway made an unbelievable catch of the aerial on the McKinney 17 as he was almost completely blanketed by McEntire and Williams. Fullback James Basinger and Hooten moved to McKinney 1 with Hooten sneaking the final step. Felon Monk's extra point try was wide to the left, leaving the score, McKinney 14, Greenville 6, with 3:02 showing on the clock in the third.

M'KINNEY SCORES AGAIN.

McKinney capitalized on a bad punt by Hooten for their third and final score of the night. End Jerry Miller led some fierce line play that chilled Greenville on their 26 with about 3 minutes gone in the final quarter. Hooten got off a wobbly punt, good for only 17 yards to the Greenville 43, and the McKinney crew took quick advantage of the break. McEntire, Williams, and Crutcher alternated to carry to the 11, and after receiving an off-side penalty back to the 16. Williams took a pitchback from Joplin and skirted the right side to the 7. Crutcher picked up 3 at center to the 4, and McEntire blasted right tackle and over the double-stripe but the play was nullified due to another off-side penalty against the Lions. Joplin carried inside left end for 4 to the 4—Williams tried the right side and lacked only inches of the payoff before Joplin quarterback-sneaked for the Lions' final score with exactly half of the final quarter gone. A bad snap back from center spoiled McEntire's extra point effort.

HOOTEN TO BASINGER.

Trailing by 20-6, Les Cranfill's eleven chalked up their other TD, on a weird play, with 3:20 left in the game. They started operating from their 32, and featuring another Hooten to Treadway aerial, good for 18 to the McKinney 34, and a personal foul for 15 against the Lions that moved the ball to the 19, the Hunt County lads had another chance. From the 19, Basinger made 7 in two tries at tackle, and with third and 3 on the 12, Hooten dropped back to pass, evidently with intentions to throw to the left. He found all receivers in that direction, and for what seemed minutes, danced around the 20, and then finally spotted Basinger open in the right flat. A surprised Basinger tucked in the pigskin around the 10 and went over untouched.

McKinney killed Greenville's hopes of a tie by taking the kickoff and moving to the Greenville 22 before turning over the hogside with only 12 seconds left. Crutcher and McEntire led the final Lion ground assault that consumed the important remaining time. Crutcher was running with tremendous power in the last series of downs and brought back memories of the great Texas Aggie All-American, John Kimbrough. Greenville tried a desperation pass in the last few seconds but it fell incomplete around their 35 as the tilt ended.

M'KINNEY PICKS UP 300 YDS.

McKinney's offensive output showed an even 300 yards, with 273 rushing and 27 passing, good for 17 first downs, while Greenville managed 152 via land and 67 in the air for 12 firsts.

M'ENTIRE TOP GAINER.

McEntire led all ball carriers for the night with 128 yards in 18 trips with help from Crutcher, with 57 in 12 carries, and Williams, with 43 in 9 jaunts. Hooten and Basinger paced the Greenville ball-toters but were kept pretty well in check by a McKinney forward wall led by end Jerry Miller, tackle Charlie Powell, and linebackers Joplin and Shaw. Tackle James McTee was Greenville's outstanding lineman, while Hooten looked the best in the secondary. McKinney played without the services of Byrd and Jerry Kruse, corner linebackers, in the second half. Byrd was troubled with leg cramps and Kruse injured a knee.

The win gave McKinney a 3-0 loop record, and an inside track to the district champion. The Lions will journey to Mt. Pleasant next Friday night while Greenville hosts Gainesville in important district games.

McKinney Day Set For 1958 Fat Stock Show

McKinney has been invited to have a "day" at the 1958 Southwestern Exposition and Fat Stock Show in Fort Worth by President-Manager W. R. Watt.

In his letter to McKinney, Watt urged that a cowgirl sweetheart be named so that she can be introduced to the rodeo audience in Will Rogers Memorial Coliseum. The city also is invited to send its high school band so that the students may give a concert on the stock show grounds. The band members will be guests at the rodeo performance.

Watt expressed the hope that the city also would have a delegation of citizens wearing hatbands or badges proclaiming their hometown. The will be offered a special section of seats at the rodeo.

Annie Oakley, Western heroine of TV and motion pictures, will be star of the 1958 rodeo. Dates Dates of the Fort Worth exposition are Jan. 24 through Feb. 2.

"We believe you will agree," Watt's letter states, "that each city having a day will derive worthwhile recognition and that everyone participating will have a good time.

"You also will be giving wonderful assistance to your fat stock show—oldest in the nation—which has been serving the great livestock industry for 62 years. We are grateful for your cooperation."

Royse City 37, Frisco Coons 0

Halfback Danny Davison led the Royse City Bulldogs to their twenty-sixth straight grid triumph, a 37-0 romp over the Frisco Coons in a District 12-B tussle at Royse City.

Davison scored five times, on runs of 14, 8, and 45 yards, and took a 30-yard pass from Quarterback Martin Harvey.

Harvey negotiated one himself on a 3-yard sneak, and Fullback Wendell Brockaway went over right guard from the 4 for the last score.

Mr. and Mrs. Sam Seely of Dallas were guests of Mrs. Peck Graves here Saturday. On Sunday Mr. and Mrs. Joe Evans of Leonard were guests of Mrs. Graves here.

Highlights And Sidelights Of Friday's Game

By FRED DICKINSON

This was supposed to be one of the tough ones, and it was by all rights and circumstances. Greenville, under the canny coaching of Les Cranfill, the old timer with the smooth touch, was ready in every way. They were fired up, and they stayed that way.

◆ ◆ ◆

Coach Joe Simpson's Lions were ready, too. It made for quite a ball game—one that would have been a "stem winder" on a dry field. For the third straight week, the Weatherman failed to cooperate in this area, and it was a cold night and a cold, soggy field.

◆ ◆ ◆

The field was really in fair shape considering all the rainfall of the past week, but there were some seepy spots and it was awfully hard for the hard driving backs from both schools to turn fast.

◆ ◆ ◆

Billy Hooten, the 151-pound quarterback of the Red and White, turned out to be a dangerous man every time he got the ball. He is awfully fast, can sweep the ends very well and can throw the long pass. That long pass to Ed Treadway, the quarterback turned end, that led to the first Greenville touchdown was a beauty. It wobbled a little in the air but the ball must have traveled all of 50 yards. Treadway had a Lion defender on each side as he pumped and speared the ball on the McKinney 17.

◆ ◆ ◆

McKinney "salted" this one away early in the fourth quarter when they were leading 14-6. Greenville, stymied through the White line in the first half, had commenced to make good yardage through the local forwards in the third quarter. They had the ball on their own 42, first and ten and seemed about to move again. Hooten, trying to pass as he swung to his right, far behind the line was hounded very closely by Jerry Miller, the Lion's right end who played a tremendous game on defense. Miller slammed into Hooten from the side just as he fired the pass. The officials ruled intentional grounding of the ball and that cost Greenville 15 yards. On the next try, they sent Ken Burch winging towards McKinney's right end on a reverse play that had worried the White-clad lads all night. Miller pounded through again to get the tackle—this time for a 5-yard loss. On the next play, a Greenville back, plowing at right tackle slipped and fell for no gain and then on fourth down Hooten's kick took a bad bounce backward to the Greenville 43. That was the starting point for McKinney's last touchdown with Charlie McEntire doing a lot of the driving. It was the real turning point in the game.

◆ ◆ ◆

The cold, bad weather and wet field caused both bands to postpone their halftime marching activities but they made up for it with some fine music from the stands. McKinney fans missed a treat when the famous Greenville "Flaming Flashes," a girls marching group, did not get to perform. However, they cheered and swayed in rhythm in the stands during most of the game.

◆ ◆ ◆

It is the considered opinion of many old timers that this McKinney team has the hardest driving set of backs as a whole that the old school has ever produced. They showed it and aplenty, Friday night. Of course, that hard blocking Lion line cleared the way, but everyone of the backs who carried the ball ran extra hard for high school players. James Basinger, the 180-pound Greenville fullback, who has a fine record of line plunging, was stopped cold in the first half, but did very well in the last half, but he couldn't match the fast breaking, streaking sweeps and plunges of a seemingly inexhaustible supply of McKinney backs.

◆ ◆ ◆

The Lion blocking on end runs was the best of the year, but the usually airtight pass defense sprung a few leaks for the first time.

◆ ◆ ◆

A big caravan of McKinney cars, led by police, made the journey to Greenville in a body.

◆ ◆ ◆

Only two more hards ones to go and then the Lions can get that much desired second shot at the Garland Owls. That's what they really want.

Business Office Defined As Heart Of Hospital

By H. D. MOUZON

The business office of a hospital migh well be described as the "heart of the hospital" in that it is the department with which the patient, his relatives and friends, have both first and last contact upon entering and leaving the institution. It is a recognized fact that first impressions are sometimes the most lasting and this fact has been taken into consideration by the management of all good hospitals, realizing that the progress of a patient toward complete recovery can be helped along considerably when his or her first impressions are favorable.

It is with these facts in mind that hospital officials use the utmost care in the selection of a business manager as well as the personnel of the business office. Their's is a most important job.

Upon entering a hospital the very first person with whom a patient comes in contact is the admitting clerk, a member of the business office staff. And, when the patient has recovered and is ready to go home the business office is his or her last contact there.

In between, the office has had the responsibility of keeping an accurate record of the patient's account—room charges, operating room, if any, X-ray, laboratory fees, etc.

In addition the office is charged with the responsibility of handling a patient's hospitalization insurance and with the matter of the collection of accounts along with any other financial matters in connection with the stay in the hospital.

The business office at City-County Hospital, under the capable direction of the business manager, J. R. Cooper, who only recently moved to McKinney from Odessa, is responsible for stock and supply inventories (medical and surgical supplies) and, of course, does all the bookkeeping and accounting for the entire hospital. Mr. Cooper is required to furnish the hospital administrator with records and reports of operation and the administrator in turn passes these reports along to the board of managers.

It is Mr. Cooper's intention to standardize bookkeeping procedure at City-County in accordance with American Hospital Association standards. A change-over to the machine method of accounting is planned around November 15 and when this is accomplished it will be possible for the office to give patients more detailed statements of their accounts than has been the case in the past.

Much more efficient operation of the department is anticipated when the move is made to the new County Hospital, planned for the late spring of next year. In their new quarters, the business office staff will have much larger and more modern facilities in which to carry on their work. There are six employes in the business office of the hospital at this time.

It is the duty of the business manager to make up the payroll for all departments, to see that all departments run smoothly and that all hospital rules and regulations are carried out to the letter.

In brief the responsibilities of the hospital business office can be summarized as follows.

The office admits and discharges patients, transfers patients, issues birth and death certificates, secures autopsy permits, releases information to the press, relatives and others, keeps a record of operating and non-operating income and expense, collects and keeps a record of cash receipts from all sources, disburses funds allocated for all purposes, keeps a record of all assets, liabilities and equities, gathers statistical information, makes purchases of supplies and equipment, collaborates with heads of the various departments using technical equipment to see that it is purchased advantageously, maintains the physical plant and its equipment, and seeks to maintain a cordial relationship between the hospital and the general public to foster confidence, goodwill and support.

Truly, the business office of a hospital can most certainly be described as the very heart of the hospital.

Local Landowners Have Completed Farm Terracing

Sam Chesney, Dr. Shumway, Edgar Bush and Claude Purnell believe in taking care of their land. They have just completed the construction of a total of eight miles of terraces on their farms. The terraces were one part of a coordinated conservation plan on their farms. Two or three years ago a conservation farm plan was prepared for these farms with the assistance of technicians from the McKinney work unit of the Soil Conservation Service.

Other farmers who plan to terrace their farms soon are: Herman Robinson, Frank Foreman, H. L. Sharp, Roy Roberts, W. T. Perkins Wayne Scott and John F. Myers.

All terraces being constructed are outletting on pasture or grassed waterways that have been especially prepared and sodded for the safe disposal of water from the terrace system. If you have not seen some of these grassed waterways, why not contact a neighbor of yours, who is cooperating with the Collin Soil Conservation District and see how they work?

If you are having erosion problems on your farm, contact the local work unit of the Soil Conservation Service and let them help you plan the waterways and terrace system that will fit your farm.

Many times waterways need shaping prior to sodding. Now is the time to get this shaping done in order to have time to prepare a good loose seedbed for spring sodding.

Mrs. Betty Hill, O. W. Field Robert Stroup and Jim Wysong have their waterways marked out and will prepare the seedbeds soon.

"I believe other farmers will take care of their land as these are doing when they realize its need," says John Wells, District Supervisor.

Chamber of Commerce . . . CORNER

PAT SIMPSON, Manager

Things are certainly humming at the Chamber of Commerce office the last few days. It seems we have more meetings planned than anyone can rightfully attend. Then you read this, your manager and office secretary will be attending the Short Course for chamber of commerce managers and secretaries in Tyler, Texas. This is an annual course for managers and secretaries to brush-up on new methods and procedures of chamber of commerce work.

The most common question we are asked is: "When is a new plant or industry moving in?" We go for several months at a time with no prospects to work with to try to sell the merits of McKinney; and then, all at once, they come in groups. At present, the Industrial Committee is working with five prospects. This does not mean any of the five firms will decide definitely to come to McKinney, but we are hopeful one or more can be sold on the good points of McKinney.

How can each and every citizen help in selling a town to industry seeking a location? Very often a company, in making a study of towns, will send some one in, unknown to anyone to get opinions from the man on the street. The most likely people these survey teams contact are clerks in retail stores, filling station workers, clerks in hotels and motels, and waitresses. It has been known that a filling station worker told an industrial survey team that his town was rotten that everyone was dishonest and the town would never grow; whereupon, the industry with a payroll of 400 people passed that town without further consideration.

It is a good old American custom to gripe about our station in life, for business reasons, let us gripe to our friends and acquaintances.

We are asked also why the companies we are negotiating with are not made known to the public. The Chamber of Commerce would like to make them known as soon as we hear of them; but, most times, the company wants to deal secretly until a definite decision is made. One reason they give is that they do not want the town in which their plant is located to know of their plans for moving until they definitely locate. Another reason is that when a large company looks at property, it always goes up in price.

REVOLUTIONARY NEW "SHOCK-ABSORBER" GIVES EXTRA PROTECTION TO FRAGILE FREIGHT

Careful handling of freight has always been a prime concern of Southern Pacific. Four years ago we asked Stanford Research Institute to help us develop an even better way to cushion boxcar shipments of fragile freight. The result is something we're proud to report.

It is the Hydra-Cushion Underframe freight car, which employs a unique sliding underframe with a hydraulic pressure device to give extra cushioning to fragile shipments while cars are being coupled or are in transit.

350 Cars. We built 350 of these cars—and added "DF" (damage-free) interior loading equipment and roller bearings for good measure—to assure extra protection to shipments of television receivers, bottled goods, glassware, ceramic tile and numerous other fragile products.

The Hydra-Cushion Underframe freight car is an example, we think, of how Southern Pacific uses modern research in our continuing effort to give the finest freight service.

Mrs. Walker Talks 'Hats" To Sherman Club

Mrs. Earl Walker of this city was guest speaker at the Adult Center in Sherman Friday, where she demonstrated hat making, a hobby which has developed into a successful occupation.

In her charming and entertaining manner Mrs. Walker said:

"A beautiful woman does not need a hat but a woman who never wears a hat lacks imagination," she said as she illustrated the making of a cocktail hat of simplicity and beauty. This hat was made of a simple double head-clip of narrow plastic, velvet and veiling covered, and topped with a soft red velvet rose, perhaps seven or eight inches in diameter, and finished off with a half-veil.

"An eye-veil," said Mrs. Walker, "makes one's face look younger than a full face veil." She illustrated the ultimate simplicity in hats—a velvet covered clip with a single jewel, either tight to the center of the clip or pendant from it. This hat can be worn above the hair line, or, on young girls, right at the hair line.

"Don't get in a rut on hat styles," she warned. Older women, particularly, tend to find a style that looks well and stick to it. The same is true of color. "A black hat is always needed, but so is a bright one. Have both. Use elaborate earrings with a simple hat, simple ones with an elaborate hat."

"Beaver is the hat material which has been in longest use; the turban is the timeless hat, queenly and flattering, and has been in style for 300 years or more," Mrs. Walker said. "If you have a small face, wear a tiny turban; if your face is large, wear a heavily draped one."

"If you have a large face and figure, wear a bulky hat with upward line; your hat must be as wide as the widest part of your face. If you wear glasses your hat should show most of your forehead."

"Never throw away a hat," she warned, and illustrated the rejuvenation of two old hats, a pillbox of brown felt and a black velvet cap, both made exciting by all over beading.

"Tedious, a little, but worth it," she explained.

The black hat sparkled with small, uniform jet beads, the brown one with small bronze beads put on in pairs and accented at irregular intervals with larger ones.

Mrs. Walker confesses that she has been slow starting her hat making hobby, that for years she wanted to make hats but only after her family had grown did she take her first lesson—in Dallas. That was less than two years ago and she has been so busy since putting out hats under her trade name, "Helen," that she has not had time to take a six weeks course in New York that she had long planned.

During the social hour the hostess served a delicious turkey dinner to twelve members. The Halloween motif was carried out in decorations of the home.

Hospital Has Best Facilities For Surgery

By H. D. MOUZON

There was a time, back in the Middle Ages, when because of religious prejudices the very thought of opening a human being's body was considered a sacrilege. There was likewise a time when barbers took over the practice of surgery after members of the clergy were forbidden by the Church to perform any operation that necessitated the shedding of blood.

Happily, through the years, as man became more intelligent and the study of medicine progressed, many of these prejudicies disappeared and the practice of surgery developed into one of the world's most highly respected professions. Today, the surgical department of the modern hospital is one of the more important departments and one that is used by a good percentage of patients.

A turning point in the history of hospitals in general and of surgery in particular was Crawford Long's first use of ether as an anesthetic when, in 1842, he removed a small tumor from the neck of a patient with ether anesthesia. To realize the significance of Long's discovery one has only to remember that in a single year, in the United States, some 10,000,000 surgical operations are performed and that most of this surgery would be impossible without the use of anesthesia.

At City-County Hospital in McKinney from 90-110 operations are performed each month, about half of which are considered of a major nature. Hospital anesthetists give some 50 to 60 general anesthetics per month, about 15 spinals each month and in the neighborhood of 10 locals every month. An average of five combined anesthetics, general and local, are administered every month.

Facilities provided in the surgica lsuite to City-County include two operating rooms, a major and a minor and a cystoscopic or cast room where many minor operations are performed; a work room for supplies; a store room; a room where doctors and nurses scrub before operating, and a doctor's lounge. The operating rooms are equipped with large movable operating lights costing some $2,000; two operating tables costing $2,500 each and a table for minor work costing originally about $600 but which will now cost $1,785; surgical instruments valued at $10,000; sterlizing equipment worth $2500; distilled water equipment costing $800; doctor and nurse scrub-up costing $250, and instrument tables valued at $500.

In addition, there is the anesthetic equipment which includes a new Ohio-Heidbrink machine that carries gasses used in giving anesthetics, costing $1,500 and one smaller machine costing about $800. Oxygen, Nitrous Oxide, Cyclo-propane and Ethylene are carried on the larger machine while all except the last named is carried on the smaller.

The surgical team at City-County Hospital, available at all times, 24 hours per day, is made up of seven persons, each of whom is especially trained for the job to be done. There are two nurse anesthetists, two registered nurses and a ward attendant who make up the team.

The hospital furnishes surgeons their operating suit and scrub gown, gloves, cap and mask at a cost of about $15.00. Practically the same equipment is also provided for operating room nurses.

Much larger and more complete facilities will be provided the surgical department when the million and a half dollar County Hospital now under construction has been completed next spring. These will include two major and one minor surgery rooms, a cystoscopic and an orthopedic room and a six-bed recovery room. There will be three anesthetic machines and other equipment needed to operate a surgical suite of the size being planned.

Perhaps the best way to get a clear picture of procedures used in surgery cases would be to follow a case all the way through the hospital, from time of admission at the business office until the patient is back in bed in his own room after the operation.

In next week's article an effort will be made to follow a patient in this manner. For this experiment we will choose an imiginary male patieant who is being admitted for gall bladder surgery at City-County Hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Billy Phillips have occupied their new brick home in the Christie-Wester Addition at Frisco.
